

Recommendation for Bob Bishop

I've been working with Bishop-Partners since we began in 2003 and have used their services for three recruits. All three have been stellar hires and we're extremely happy about the value proposition for getting and keeping people who make a difference in our organization. Bishop-Partners' real strength – and point of difference - is their understanding of the business situation. Bob works hard to understand the dynamics of the fit from a management perspective. He spends a lot of time helping to articulate the job description and emotional fit, which ultimately has resulted in employees who know what's expected and come in ready to contribute.

Sincerely,

Norty Cohen, President
